Robert Breckenridge Passes Away

The funeral services in connection with the burial of Robert Breckenridge took place at the Undertaker's Parlor and the local cemetery on Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. W. Bainbridge.

Mr. Breckenridge was born in Grey County, Ontario, 81 years ago. He spent his early years in the U. S. A. In 1909 he came to British Columbia, and about ten years ago he homesteaded north east of Kinsella, where he has been well known and highly respected ever since. He was a strong and healthy man until about six weeks ago, when he contracted pneumonia, gradually weakened, and passed away peacefully in the Viking Municipal Hospital on the 19th.

He leaves to mourn his departure, four daughters, Mrs. Derickson, Montana; Mrs. Lagace, Montana; Mrs. Barker, Loughheed; and Mrs. T. Greenwood, Viking; and four sons, Herbert, South Dakota; Bert, Garrett; and Marshall of Kinsella.

Their many friends share their sorrow.

TEST SEED WHEAT

Testing of seed wheat is strongly recommended by the Alberta Wheat Pool. By seeding couple of hundred grains of sample of seed to be used, in a flower pot or box, and keeping the soil moist, a good idea is obtained of what the seed will do when placed in the ground next spring. Clean, pure seed that will germinate evenly will increase the bulk and quality of the crop.

CHURCH NOTICES AND ACTIVITIES

IRMA UNITED CHURCH

3 p.m. — Alma Matgr.
7:30 p.m. — Irma.

Subject: 6th Commandment, "Is there anything more sacred than life? Perhaps there is."

11 A. M. — Church School.

Subject: "The Christian Church." What if every church in the world were suddenly removed. What difference would it make? If we realized better what the Church is and does, would we be more loyal? Talk it over in one of our classes Sunday, March 3rd.

A man was once asked "Are you a pillar in the church?" He answered, "No, I'm a flying buttress, supporting it from the outside." Perhaps he was related to the man who, when asked about his church connection, said, "Well, my wife belongs; I guess you might put me down as a brother-in-law." No one will deny there are a lot of good men outside the Church, call them what we will, flying buttresses or brothers-in-law. They are upright, clean-living, intelligent men interested in a better community, better homes, better schools, better citizenship. Their oath of allegiance to the Christian church would add immeasurably to its power and prestige. Why do they withhold it? If a man wished to fight the enemies of his country he would join the army which was being trained to do that work. He would put on the uniform so that all might know he was a member of it. He would attend the drills and learn from the teachers. Why do men, who want to fight the enemies of mankind — graft, immorality, intemperance — stay outside an organization whose avowed purpose is "To press the battle till the night shall veil the glowing skies." What better work can Christian men do for their community than to organize a campaign to bring into church membership other men who are animated by the spirit of Christ, but who do not bear "His Name and Sign."

Community Club

On Monday evening, February 18th the Community Club held their regular meeting. After business was completed Mr. and Mrs. Bamsey and Mrs. Barton were hosts and hostesses for the social hour, which took the form of a Mock Parliament. The Government introducing a Bill to tax Bachelors and Spinsters. The outstanding features of the session being Premier Bamsey, R. T. Meakins as Labor Member, and Miss M. Smith, a Leader of the Opposition; the Rev. McNeil ably filled the position as Speaker of the House. The vote on the Bill resulted in a tie until the Speaker, himself a bachelor of long standing, promptly squashed the Bill. Notable addresses were also heard from the Honorable Emmaline Luxton, Attorney General James Miller, the Hon. W. H. Barton, Harry Symonds, P.O.O.L. ably opposed the Bill. At times the enthusiasm occasioned by the bitter remarks on both sides got beyond control of the Speaker, and Sergeant at Arms Matthews on more than one occasion was called to preserve order, in fact, a near crisis was averted when, Premier Bamsey and the Labor Member shook their fists at one another. With great tact the Speaker prevented bloodshed until the House was dissolved amid roars of laughter. Lunch was then served and a very enjoyable evening came to an end.

The next regular meeting of the Community Club will be held on Monday, March 4th. We extend a cordial invitation to all to come in. Mr. and Mrs. Fischer, Mrs. Jenkins and Stan Bridgman, are the committee in charge of the social part of the entertainment.

WILLIAM JOHN MCPHEE PASSES AWAY

Sunday, February 24th Mr. William John McPhee, passed away at the home of his daughter Mrs. L. Hagar where he has been making his home for the past three years. The deceased who was seventy-nine years old at the time of his death has been unable to move around for some time and seldom left his home. The remains were taken to Calgary Monday evening accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hagar.

Jarrow Broadcast

On Friday evening, February 22nd, the Community Club presented their play "The Colonel's Maid" to a full house. The different parts were well played and no special mention can be made of any. The play is a comedy and a real one, every line, almost, being a laugh. The cast was as follows: Colonel Rudd, C. Jenkins; Colonel Byrd, W. Matthews; Son Bab, R. Morby; Ned Graydon, with the poor memory, John Stratton; The Colonel's Maid, Aubyn Morby; Aunt Emmaline, E. Luxton; and her daughter Julia, D. Jenkins; and last but by no means least, Ching-ah-Ling, the Chinese cook, Harry Symonds. A goodly sum was realized which will go towards the building of the Hall. The players are planning on taking their play to Irma in the near future and all who see it are assured of a real good time.

Mrs. Morby returned home from Melville, Sask., Friday in time for the play, but returned on Monday owing to the continued illness of Mr. Morby.

Mr. and Mrs. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. Lison and Mrs. Luxton attended lodge in Irma on Monday night and also Tuesday afternoon.

We're glad to see the break in the cold weather and hope it will continue.

On Tuesday evening the P. A. girls Club planned a sleigh ride party to the home of one of the former members, Miss Christenson, but it turned into a truck ride party. Fred Rowland very kindly driving the girls out to their destination. A most enjoyable evening was spent. A short business meeting was held in which the girls decided not to hold their concert and dance on March 22nd as they had planned. Games and contests were then indulged in and a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Christenson, and the girls piled into the truck homeward bound. Everything went well until about two miles out of town the axle of the truck broke and the girls finished their evening with a walk home. No one was the worse for the walk but all were sorry that Fred's truck was broken.

McDougall Bros. have purchased part of the livery barn from A. Christenson and are busy tearing it down. They intend to enlarge the garage and their house with the lumber from the same.

The municipal election was held on Saturday, February 23rd. A good number of voters cast their votes and the result showed quite a good majority for Mr. Bamsey.

A large crowd attended church on Sunday evening. A trio by Mrs. Waite, Mrs. McCracken and Mr. Orr, was very much enjoyed and Mr. McNeil preached a splendid sermon on "As a man thinketh so he is."

Mr. McNeil left on Monday for a few days visit with friends in Kelsey. The Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Matthews on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. McDougall of Greenhills is visiting her sons this week.

Mrs. A. Johnson returned from Edmonton this week where she has been receiving medical treatment.

Mr. H. Barton has purchased the premises of the Imperial Lumber Co. and expects to move in soon. Mr. Finch from Irma has been busy with teams and sleighs hauling away the old stock and getting the yard in order.

The West and Its Natural Resources

The question of the transfer of the public lands and natural resources in the West by the Dominion to the three prairie provinces is one again, very much to the fore. Ever since the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed; in fact, to some extent ever since Manitoba was created a province, there has been a demand on the part of the Western Provinces that they should be placed in a position of equality with the older provinces in the matter of ownership and control of the public domain.

Fortunately, the question has now passed out of the realm of partisan controversy, because all political parties, Liberal, Conservative, Progressive, at Ottawa as well as in the Prairie Capitals, are agreed that the transfer should be made. Not only so, but the Governments of the Eastern Provinces have waived the objections so long urged by them. It is now only a question of reaching terms acceptable to the West on the one hand, and the rest of the Dominion on the other hand.

Negotiations are now under way with all three prairie provinces. In the case of Manitoba, agreement has been reached with the Dominion to the extent that a Commission is now engaged in studying the whole question of terms. Negotiations with Alberta reached the point of an agreement being actually signed between the two Governments, but later, Ottawa proposed to insert a provision relative to the school lands which was unacceptable to Alberta, and the agreement was not proceeded with. Ottawa has since modified its position and an early settlement of outstanding differences seems likely.

Saskatchewan's position is somewhat different from that of the other provinces. Whereas Alberta is rich in coal, oil, and other resources apart from lands, and recent discoveries have revealed a film flow and a Sherrill-Gordon in Manitoba, Saskatchewan's mineral wealth is yet to be proven. Furthermore, Saskatchewan's chief wealth has been found in its agricultural lands, and to a large extent these have already been disposed of by the Dominion, with the result that there is not as great wealth to be handed over by the Dominion to Saskatchewan as exists in the case of the other two provinces. Saskatchewan, therefore, has a stronger claim for compensation for lands alienated under Dominion administration for the general benefit of all Canada. However, negotiations are in progress.

The sooner all these questions are finally settled and the Western Provinces placed in control of their lands and resources, the better. They cannot be complete unity among the provinces, nor can they have a national spirit and aim, so long as Western Canada feels it is in a position of inferiority to the Eastern Provinces. The interests of the Dominion demand the removal of any cause for such feeling. Further, whatever arguments may have been convincing in 1905 for retention of the public domain by the Dominion on the ground that they could administer them better than could the newly created provinces with all the manifold tasks before them, and with but small populations and financial resources, those arguments are removed now that there are over two million people in the three prairie provinces with fully developed governmental institutions and strong financial credit.

Constitutional issues, it is true, are involved in any consideration of this matter. The West does not, and cannot, accept the interpretation placed upon certain enactments by the Dominion and the Eastern provinces, notwithstanding that Eastern opinion is greatly modified to what it was a few years ago. It would, however, be a mistake for the negotiating parties to take up positions based solely upon constitutional grounds. To do so would mean long and expensive litigation right through to the Privy Council in England. Then, when the legal and constitutional issues were finally settled, an army of expert accountants would have to be engaged for years to delve into all the many transactions involving lands and resources since the passage of the first Dominion Lands Act, in 1872.

The sane, sensible, business-like thing to do now is for the representatives of the Dominion and the Provinces to gather around a table and reach an amicable agreement, fair, reasonable and acceptable to all. The sooner this big issue is settled the better for Canadian national unity and strength, and the quicker will the resources themselves be funneled for use of the people and add to the growth, development and wealth of our Canada. So long as they remain in the present unsettled state neither Dominion nor Provincial Governments can proceed with proper and energetic developmental policies, and, as a result, progress is retarded.

Will Introduce Flag Bill

Resolution Dealing With Canadian Symbol Will Be Considered

The adoption of a Canadian flag will come before parliament during the present session through a resolution placed on the order paper by C. R. McIntosh, Liberal member for North Battleford.

The resolution of Mr. McIntosh calls for the appointment of a special committee "for the purpose of considering the advisability of adopting a Canadian flag representing Canada as a whole which shall form part of the British flag as the symbol of the Dominion as an equality partner in the commonwealth of British nations."

Keeping High Ideals

Rule Of Famous Artist Is Good One To Follow

A famous artist strictly resolved not to look at silly or funny pictures, simply because, when he himself wished to paint all these funny pictures crossed his thoughts, and consequently they were introduced in his work. Hence he made it a rule to look only at great masterpieces. By doing this he ever kept his mind full of great conceptions, and he found it much easier to paint great pictures himself. If people would only make it a rule to observe only that which is great and good, they would find it much easier to live a great and pure life.

Non-Inflammable Paper

German Gives Successful Demonstration Of His Fireproof Invention

A paper that does not burn has been discovered. The German inventor, Mr. Franz Franck, gave a demonstration recently. He took a sheet of ordinary newspaper, crumpled it into a ball, and wrapped the highly combustible object in a sheet of his fireproof paper. Thus protected, he held it for a few minutes in the flame of a laboratory blast lamp hot enough to melt a glass window-pane. Not only did the fireproof wrapping survive, but the ordinary paper inside was not even scorched.

NERVOUS INDIGESTION AS A RESULT OF FLU

A Severe Sufferer Overcame This Trouble By Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

No ailment of recent years has proved so treacherous as has the Flu. The disease itself is bad enough, but the after effects are where the real danger lies. The Flu leaves behind it a weakened body, impoverished blood, shattered nerves and an impaired digestive system. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of rebuilding the blood and strengthening the nerves during convalescence. Until the blood is built up the recovery cannot be complete and strength. The one sure blood-builder is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Start a treatment of them today and see how soon you show signs of robust health again.

Among the many victims of the terrible Flu epidemic of 1919 was Mrs. Irving Maxwell, of Bancroft, Ont. Read what this lady has to say concerning what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her:—"After an attack of the Flu I was left in an extremely weak state. My blood was impoverished. I was seized with indigestion, and stomach trouble, my nerves were shattered and nothing my doctor gave me seemed to help me in the least. I continually grew weaker, and weaker till finally I lost all control of my nervous system. My mother, who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for her own stomach trouble, strongly advised me to give them a trial. I did so, and after using three boxes I noticed some improvement. I persisted in the treatment and by the time I had used seven boxes I was fully restored to health again, and although I am a mother of six children I am now able to do all my work around the house and feel as well as I did in my life before. When these Pills have done for me they will surely do for others."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood and are a specific cure for all nervous ailments and the general weakness feeling that affects so many people. They are sold in all medicine dealers or direct by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Airplane Ambulance

Actual Demonstration To Be Given In Paris Next May

The airplane which has already proved its worth as a passenger, mail, and express carrier, is now to become an ambulance.

An international congress will assemble in Paris next May to consider air transportation of sick and injured in both military and civil life. The Commerce Department has been advised by its representatives there.

Actual demonstration of the airplane ambulance will be given at Le Bourget Field, where a pseudopatient will be bundled aboard, carried to some provincial village and returned.

To Develop Home Art Industries

Canadian Handicrafts Guild To Hold Exhibition In Regina

The Canadian Handicrafts Guild, whose object is to encourage revive and develop home art industries throughout Canada, will hold an exhibition in the Saskatchewan Hotel, Regina, March 20 to 23rd, 1920. The exhibit will be open to anyone free of entry fee or charge who is skilled in making hand work, basketry, embroidery, knitting, lace, leather work, metal work, pottery, quilts, rugs, sewing, weaving, wood work, etc. Everything, however, must be handmade.

The object of the Guild is to preserve the knowledge and skill possessed by our people and to encourage industry and thrift in the home of the public, making their work profitable and honourable by means of exhibiting the products of their skill and to keep records in order to prevent the extinction of any arts or crafts. The Guild will undertake to sell any exhibits that are sent in but every person should, of course, put his or her price on the article.

One feature of the exhibit will be to educate the public to the value of good handwork, so that a demand be created for these handicrafts thereby enabling our people to find their interesting and artistic work at home remunerative.

This is the first exhibition that has been held in Saskatchewan but in other provinces successful exhibitions have been held in which the sales have gone as high as $50,000. Anyone interested in any way should communicate with the Secretary, Canadian Handicrafts Guild, Saskatchewan Hotel, Regina, and any information will be cheerfully furnished. The Guild is not a profit-making institution, (there are no entrance fees), but is out to help others help themselves. No time should be lost, therefore, in writing at once to the secretary for information. The Folk Song and Folk Dance Festival at Regina will be held at the same time and a most interesting four days is expected.

The First Fort Kamloops

City Of Today Stands On Site Of Old Trading Post

When history was in the making on the steep slopes of Kamloops, in 1812, another chapter in Canada's story was being written. Thousands of miles westward, when Alexander Ross, near the junction of the north and south branches of the Thompson River, traded for ten days with 2,000 Indians gathered at Kamloops. A few months later in the fall of the same year, Ross built the first Fort Kamloops. Dr. John Jacob Astor, and here the trade was carried on for many years. Today the city of Kamloops stands on the site of the old trading post, and only a moulding door post, and a cellar, overgrown with weeds mark the spot where the hard-faced fur traders stood in the van of the fast-marching white civilization.

Whatever He Thought

This isn't a new one, but it is worth re-telling. A little girl ran into her home one afternoon and said to her maiden aunt, a Christian Scientist, "Auntie, you know that old man on the corner who was ill?" "You mean he thought he was ill?" corrected the aunt. "Well, now he thinks he's dead," said the little girl.

Minard's Liniment for the Grippe and Flu.

CHILDREN'S COLDS

are doubly dangerous after Flu

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is AFTER influenza. Then, more than ever, colds attacking a child's weakened system may lead to bronchitis, pneumonia, sinus trouble, abscess of the ear, mastoiditis, or even the dread meningitis.

Check Colds Without "Dosing"

A peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins leave the digestive system upset. Too much "dosing" further disturbs the digestion and lessens the appetite. Just when the child needs nourishment more than ever, internal medication should therefore be avoided, except on the advice of a physician.

As Vicks VapoRub is applied externally, it can be used freely at the first sign of a cold with no fear of upsetting even the most delicate stomach. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

Vicks Acts 2 Ways at Once

(1) Its medicated vapors, released by the body warmth, are inhaled directly to the inflamed air-passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing.

(2) At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" tightness and soreness, and thus helping the vapors to break up the congestion.

Of course, Vicks 2-way action is just as effective for adults' cold-troubles as it is for those of children.

Ex-Kaiser Was Angry

Letter In Reference To Naming Liners Gave Directors Good Laugh

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II. it seems when he heard that two great transatlantic liners now being built at Bremen in Germany, were not to be named, respectively, Frederick the Great and Wilhelm the Great, after two of his most renowned Hohenzollern ancestors, wrote an angry protest to the directors of the company for which they are being built. In this letter he scolded them in terms which must have made them rub their eyes and wonder for a moment whether Germany was now a republic. Wilhelm, an exile in Holland, and their action anything except a flagrant case of lese-majeste. For Colds -

How many people you know who end their colds with Aspirin! And how often you've heard of its prompt relief of sore throat or tonsillitis. No wonder millions take it for colds, neuralgia, rheumatism; and the aches and pains that go with them. The wonder is that anyone still worries through a winter without these tablets! They relieve quickly, yet have no effect whatever on the heart. Friends have often told you Aspirin is marvelous; doctors have declared it harmless. Every druggist has it, with proven directions. Why not put it to the test?

Canada's Aggregate Trade Shows Remarkable Increase In the Last Fourteen Years

Each recurring year comes as a call for personal and national stock-taking. The first concerns the individual personality, the second is the concern of every patriotic citizen. So it is not amiss to consider the position of Canada on her material side and as occupying a place in the world economy out of all proportion to the nation her population bears to that of the principal countries that are her competitors in the open markets of the world. At the end of 1927 the Dominion ranked fifth in the volume of her imports, exports and general trade, yielding rank in these respects only to the United Kingdom, United States, Germany and France, all nations of greatly larger population. Following Canada, in the order of their trade aggregates, come British India, Japan, Italy, Argentina and the Netherlands.

That Canada should occupy so honorable a position in the trading roster of the world is a matter of legitimate pride, heightened by the rapidity of the Canadian expansion. In 1913, the year before the war, Canada ranked only eighth in the volume of her imports, tenth in the volume of her exports, and ninth in aggregate trade. The Dominion's rise to fifth place in aggregate value thus lies entirely within the war and post-war periods and is both remarkable and, probably, unparalleled in trade history. Moreover, it is even more surprising when it is kept in mind that Canada still numbers less than 10,000,000 people, and that her increase in population has been relatively slow. Because of this the Dominion takes a much higher place when the point of view is restricted to per capita trade.

In the last complete calendar year before the outbreak of war, Canada ranked seventh in that regard among the countries of the world in export trade, but in 1927 had reached second place, out-ranked by New Zealand alone. In import trade Canada ranked seventh per capita in 1913, rising in 1927 to fifth. In aggregate trade per capita Canada moved from sixth place to second in the same period, being exceeded by the much smaller Dominion, New Zealand. Taking the visible trade balance, Canada held third place in 1927, following the United States and British India, but on a per capita basis, the Dominion led the world.

Canada's fiscal year ends March 31, and for the last complete year to that date in 1928 her aggregate trade was returned at $2,325,599,534. This represents an increase in fourteen years of $4,240,635,585, or 114 per cent. Import trade has increased from $892,092,332 to $1,687,117,939 by $393,058,538, or 57 per cent. Export trade has increased from $393,232,057 to $1,238,782,004 by $554,549,947, or 215 per cent. The value of Canadian trade continues to increase, further increments being recorded in the present year. Comparing the aggregate for the 12 months ended July last with the previous corresponding twelve months, an increase is shown of over 5 per cent., both imports and exports being appreciably greater.

Business Is Increasing

The Manitoba Cordage Company reports a year of steady progress. A crop of approximately 1,200 acres of hemp was planted during the year as compared with 600 acres during 1927. Four hundred acres of hemp were grown at Rhelm, Saskatchewan. Manufactured products are meeting with a favorable reception and a gradually increasing business is being done.

Idea Of University Training

When Properly Applied It Is Most Valuable Asset

"A university training is the great ordinary means to a great but ordinary end; it aims at raising the intellectual tone of society, at cultivating the public mind, at purifying the national taste, at supplying true principles to popular enthusiasm and fixed aims to popular aspiration, at giving enlargement and sobriety to the ideas of the age, at facilitating the exercise of political power, and refining the intercourse of private life. It is education which gives a man a clear, conscious view of his own opinions and judgments, a truth in developing them, an eloquence in expressing them, and a force in urging them. It teaches him to see things as they are, to go right to the point to disentangle a skein of thought, to detect what is sophistical, and to discard what is irrelevant. It prepares him to fill any post with credit, and to master any subject with facility. It shows him how to accommodate to others, how to throw himself into their state of mind, how to bring before them his own, how to influence them, how to come to an understanding with them.—John Henry Newman.

Canada's Copper Production

Government Report Indicates Large Increase In This Industry

Within five years Canada will produce approximately 250,000 tons of metallic copper annually, or roughly ten times the present consumption of the Dominion's industries utilizing this metal, according to present indications and calculations of experts of the Mines Branch of the Department of the Interior, upon a basis of minimum production of newly-developed mines in the Dominion.

Under existing conditions the bulk of the copper thus produced would be refined in the United States and brought back to Canada. This would be the case, at least, until the establishment of a smelter at some suitable point which could refine the production of Canada's eastern mines and the re-opening of the huge smelter at Trail, B.C., which has been closed since the cutting off of its supply of copper ore from the Grand Consolidated holdings at Copper Mountain, now shipping to Copet, Wash., for smelting purposes.

Only Solution To Problem Of Trans-Atlantic Airplane Travel Says Michigan Professor

Prof. W. B. Hobbs, of the University of Michigan, who is laying tentative plans for a fourth expedition into Greenland, believes that the only satisfactory solution to the problem of trans-Atlantic airplane travel lies in the Greenland-Iceland route. "Since safety is the primary factor in mapping out a regular air route the northern route across Greenland and Iceland is the only one which offers a solution to the problem," Prof. Hobbs says. "Weather conditions and winds to the far north are much more favorable than those encountered along the traditional ship lanes to Europe and the water jumps much shorter and less perilous.

Care of Cut Flowers

Flowers must be taken care of by the purchaser. When you open a box of cut flowers from the florist's the stems have air in them. So it is not enough that you put the flowers immediately into a vase of water. Cut off about half an inch at the end of the stems and immerse the stems in warm water till the flowers are up to their necks in the liquid. Then the water passages will soon be filled and the flowers are ready for the vases.

Supplementary Ration For Breeding Poultry

Good Results Obtained From Use Of Cod Liver Oil

It is now being recognized that the fertility, hatchability, and viability of eggs may be influenced by the manner of feeding the laying hens. During the hatching season the Experimental Station at Kentville, N.S., carried out an experiment to determine the effects of using such supplementary feeds as cod liver oil, raw liver, bone meal, etc., when added to the regulation ration given to the breeding stock. The regulation ration used consisted of dry mash made up of 100 pounds each of corn meal, oatmeal, bran and middlings, and 50 pounds of beef meal, 1/2 pound of salt was added to every 100 pounds of the mixture. The test groups of hens were fed alike on this mixture in addition some of the hens received, when fed singly, cod liver oil, one teaspoonful for four birds daily; raw liver, half an ounce per bird daily, and bone meal, five per cent. by weight of dry mash. When these special feeds were given in combination only half of these amounts were used.

The experiment was divided into two parts with a week elapsing between them. The results of this experiment are given in detail in the report of the superintendent of the station for 1927, published by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The most outstanding conclusion to be arrived at from the study of this report, which may be obtained at the Publication Branch, is that the pens using the cod liver oil were outstanding particularly in the percentage of hatchability of eggs laid.

Forming New Dominion

Territories In East Africa United Under British Flag

A "black dominion" of 10,000,000 persons governed by a scattered handful of white men under the British flag is slowly taking shape in East Africa. The project includes the vast rich Tanganyika area. Tanganyika covers 373,000 square miles and has been held by Britain under a mandate since the war. Uganda and Kenya are the other proposed component parts of the new dominion of the British Empire.

A hint of the proposals is found in the report of a commission investigating conditions in East Africa, under the chairmanship of Sir Edward Hilton Young. The commission recommended further improvement in administration and appointment of a high commissioner for the three territories. This might eventually lead to creation of the post of governor-general, according to certain quarters and the first step towards creation of a dominion.

Kenya is the largest white colony, numbering 12,500. The 422 officials there rule some 2,736,000 natives. They are slowly developing a great trade in cotton, hides, ivory and timber with Britain and the United States.

Nairobi, capital of Kenya, is a little city planted in the midst of the jungle.

Tanganyika has a population of almost 4,000,000. Uganda which has been under British rule since 1894, has 3,200,000. In each territory the natives are slowly being educated.

Some observers are of the opinion that the British plan is ultimately to link up these territories with Northern and Southern Rhodesia, which are to the south and under British rule. Then it is pointed out, the legislative link might be extended to the even larger territories of the Union of South Africa.

See Snow-Garbed Rockies On Skis

Party Explores Tonquin Valley and Maligne Lake

The magnificent scenery of the Tonquin Valley is greatly magnified by its winter mantle of snow, according to four men who have been seeing it on skis. Vardens MacMillan, Frank Borstrom, Joe Veiss and R. Morrison have returned to Jasper after three days' exploring. Using a log cabin as their base, they visited Chrome Lake, Amethyst Lake, Moat Lake and the country about the base of Tonquin Hill. They encountered five feet of snow on the elklands, and good skiing conditions. Much of the small bush and low trees of the summits was covered by deep snow, which provided a much larger ski-ing surface than would appear to the eye of the visitor in the summer time. The return route was from the MacCarthy Pass and down the Portal Creek valley to the Edith Cavel motor road and the main Athabasca Valley.

The same group skied from Maligne Canyon to Medicine Lake cabin, a distance of about 13 miles, pushed on another 10 or 11 miles to Maligne Lake and spent some time in these magnificent surroundings. They saw a large herd of caribou on the west shore, about a mile from the chalet, many deer and abundant moose tracks. Among the animals they saw on the Tonquin trip were caribou, wolverine and lynx.

Idea Was Not a Success

The impotation of two pairs of reindeer into Switzerland last spring has not proved successful. Of the four animals which arrived in Chaux de Fonds only two now remain. During the exceptionally hot summer both the males died, as did two young ones, born in June. This will be a disappointment to the winter sports enthusiasts, who were looking forward to a new form of skiing, in which the reindeer was to have taken the place of the horse as motive power.

Subject To Question

Although a tablet on a London tavern states that Samuel Pepys, the famous diarist, was born in house on that site, there is doubt about it. No one really knows whether he was born in London or in a Huntingdonshire town.

Containing only three streets and less than one hundred houses, St. David's, in Pembroke, England, has a famous cathedral and is entitled to call itself a city.

An interesting "story of the first air mail," a story that must be little known, was sent to the Manitoba Free Press from the Winnipeg vice-consulate of the Netherlands. The story explains how:

"The first letter known to have been sent by international air mail was received by Willem I. King of the Netherlands, more than 92 years ago. It happened on Nov. 7, 1836. On that day, Robert Holland, a British capitalist, accompanied by Blanche Mason and Charles Green, embarked in a balloon for a trip across the North Sea channel. The King's councillor-general at London, Mr. J. W. May, handed the balloonists a letter addressed to the King of the Netherlands. The balloon landed at Weiburg, Germany, where the letter was mailed to The Hague. King Willem was so delighted with the novelty of the fact that he ordered the letter to be filed with the annotation 'to be carefully saved.'"

Of course this disclosure of mail delivered by balloon nearly a hundred years ago is a sharp contrast illustrating the advances in the uses now made of the air. Indeed, where a start ever had not been made, an advance can hardly be recorded. Controlled aerial locomotion is so new that it did not exist when balloons were tossed about at the mercy of each whiff of wind. When the King of the Netherlands thought, wonders had ceased when his letter descended with the balloon which transported it, nothing was known of air craft and air service as we have come to know them. Nothing of this was known at the beginning of last century, and little more at the beginning of this one. Knowledge of transport's newest dimension manifested itself only in the last quarter-century, and the greatest strides in putting it to the most astounding practical uses have been taken in the last ten years or so.

As the vice-consul of the Netherlands remarks, "Today the sending of mail from Holland to the Dutch Indies, and return, a distance each way of about 10,000 miles, is a common occurrence." And he asks, "What would King Willem have said if he had received a letter from Batavia or Sourabaya, written ten days previously, and reading, 'We hereby confirm our telephone conversation held this morning, etc.'? Yet such letters are actually being received in Holland today.

Whatever the King of the Netherlands would have said at the thought of such rapid communication he couldn't, a hundred years ago, have regarded it as much more unlikely and wholly impossible than did most of this generation at the beginning of this century. And it is altogether permissible to presume that the King of the Netherlands referred to would be little more perplexed at the advances made in the air since his time, than we would be with the further advances that will be made in the next fifty or a hundred years.

The Battle of January

January was a momentous month for wheat producers the world over. Canadian farmers had delivered nearly four hundred million bushels of wheat. Argentine and Australia were commencing the delivery of unusually large crops. There was an immense visible supply of wheat. The market commenced to sag. The one optimistic feature in a rather gloomy picture was the Canadian Wheat Pool. Just what the Pool stood for is told in candid language by George Broomfield, the British grain authority, in "Milling".

"Prices were put down on the plea that Argentina must sell more of her new crop, and, in fact, shippers did put out lower offers, and some Canadian sellers followed the downward lead.

"But it was soon found that the Canadian Pool refused to offer or sell at the lower prices, and, of course, this gave Argentine shippers courage to work for a reaction.

"The action of the Canadian Pool also gave buyers confidence, and they not only found they needed wheat, but that they could pay better rates for it.

"As long as the sellers were willing to 'cut' prices, buyers were quite prepared to stand back and let them do still more 'cutting,' and quite possibly there might have been a bad slump had not the Canadian Pool taken a strong stand.

"The Canadian Pool Managers

certainly deserve credit for courageous handling of a difficult situation, and their action proves that farmer members of the Pool would not agree to low prices at this period of the season.

"The lesson of the price movements of wheat in the past week is that emphasis must be given to the power of strong holders to maintain prices.

"Past experience showed that a crowd of weak holders was almost at the mercy of buyers in times of plenty.

"I think all must now recognize the commanding position of the Canadian Pool, and the readiness of Argentine shippers to follow a strong upward lead."

VIKING

Percy Finch and Angus Ross have the best average of winnings, and have a good chance to win the Grand Aggregate, of course, always provided, they keep on winning, but it's a slippery game, boys. Percy Finch's rink has won 5 out of 6, while Angus Ross' rink has won 4 out of 5.

Angus Ross, Runyon, Dr. Little and the Lassies are in the finals of the Grand Challenge, and they are all eager to win the high honors. The Lassies skipped by Jack Slavik and including Mrs. McAthey third, Mrs. Slavik second, and Mrs. Thunell lead, are quite confident that they will clean up on the mere men in the primary event. They think they should, too, as they say its time the people of Viking and district saw a photo of curlers in the paper, that is really worth looking at.

F. Ross, Percy Finch, Thunell and Graham are in the finals of the Elks, and there promises to be some real hectic battles on the ice before this competition is won.

The King Edward and Merchants competitions are fairly well started, and a couple of rinks are already in the Consolation.

The final games in the two primary events are postponed for a few days until the curlers return from the Wainwrightspiel, in fact owing to so many rocks being away to Wainwright, only enough rocks are left here for one game at a time.

Saturday or Monday should see the local bonspiel away to another good start.

Percy Main pulled off the first six ends in the localspiel the other night against the Lassies. Ben Runyon was eliminated from the King Edward on Tuesday evening when his rink lost a hard fought battle against Hardy, the score being 11 to 10.

The Elks held "ladies night" at their hall last hursday evening when their wives and sweethearts were entertained at a program of card dancing, a variety of entertainment, and lunch. Numbers by the orchestra, Mr. Lyons, a colored trio consisting of Dr. Little, P. Finch, and G. W. Green, and other items were thoroughly enjoyed.

A. Burnham left on Monday evening to attend the weed inspectors course being held at the University this week.

Mr. Hilbert returned from Edmonton on Saturday. He has been taking three months treatment in the University Hospital.

A real jolly party was held at the home of Mrs. Cartwright on Monday evening when along with Mrs. J. Leeder she very kindly entertained the members of the Ladies Curling Club. "Hoot Mon", but it was a grand night and the ladies of the "besom and stane" thoroughly enjoyed the many good things provided for them. It was a real "Curler's Party" with all the skips very much in evidence, especially in the stunt where they tried to take the pegs from the clothes-line; not with the 'besom and stane' but with their teeth. The honors went to Mrs. F. Ross who won the most points. Mrs. Little and Mrs. A. Ross won the prize in the guessing contest, and all the Curlers did ample justice to the sumptuous refreshments provided.

The Scandinavian players, Anderson & Larson, of Winnipeg, are playing for a dance in Jensen's Hall on Saturday, March 2nd, from 9 to 12 o'clock. Come and have a good time.

The hockey boys dance held in the Elks hall last Friday evening was a delightful affair. Mr. Watkins held the lucky number in the draw for the blanket.

The Ladies Curling Club was favored with a visit of two rinks from the Tofield Ladies Club.

Two games were played the Tofield rinks being Mrs. Hannan, skip, Mrs. Beirnes, Mrs. Law and Mrs. Imier; and Mrs. Brace, skip, Mrs. Hobson, Mrs. Bisset, Mrs. Roe. The Viking rinks were Mrs. McAthey, skip, Mrs. Thunell, Mrs. A. Ross, Mrs. Pickering; and Mrs. Collier, skip, Mrs. F. Ross, Mrs. Hennessy, Mrs. Hilliker.

The Viking rinks won both games by a comfortable margin. The visiting ladies were good sports taking their defeat with good grace and assuring the winners that they had thoroughly enjoyed the games.

After the games were over Mrs. B. Hilliker very kindly placed her home at the disposal of the Ladies Curling Club who served afternoon tea to the visitors. Mrs. M. Hyslop on behalf of the Club extended a warm welcome to the visitors and told them that even if it did seem inconsistent to welcome and then turn them away, however, the welcome was no less real and wholehearted.

Jack Ross, of Roland, Manitoba, arrived on Monday and is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Ross, Angus being his uncle.

Mr. Bell caught the train Tuesday night for Medicine Hat, Sask., where he intends to stay for a short visit.

In 1921 the Canadian Pacific paid out $2,000,000 from freight revenue in loss and damage claims. In 1927 it paid $700,000, a decrease of $1,300,000, although in the same period the gross freight revenue had increased $3,000,000. Better freight handling, did it.

A new and strange form of wild-fowl is being imported into Alberta by the Calgary Fish and Game Association, which has arranged to acquire 2,000 Mongolian and Chinese ring-necked pheasants. The birds are to be liberated this summer throughout the southern part of the province, where 1800 were placed last season as part of the Game Association plan for restocking Alberta's game bird supply. With all these Oriental birds loose the ancient yellow Peril seems more imminent.

Clipping as much as an hour and a half off her schedule eastbound, and half an hour westbound, the Trans Canada Limited, crack flyer of the Canadian Pacific Railway running between Montreal, Toronto, and Vancouver, will be further remarkable this summer by reason of a "solarium" car, containing baths and a special sun-room, which will be included in her luxurious equipment. The Mountaineer, another speedster train, running between Vancouver and Chicago will also have "solarium" cars, and run on faster time. The Trans Canada makes its first run on May 12, and The Mountaineer on June 12. The former train makes 140 trips during the summer season covering a distance equal to about fifteen and a half times around the world.

Many enquiries for Reward wheat, one of the early ripening varieties evolved by the Canadian Government Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, are being received by the Dominion Cerealists. The farm will have 10,000 bushels of this new wheat for distribution, and the 350 growers who were allowed to have 10,000 bushels will have a surplus of 2,000 bushels making available 12,000 bushels for seed in 1929.

Production of agricultural implements and machinery in Canada amounted to $2,096,288 in 1927, according to the Bureau of Statistics, as compared with $38,263,214 for the previous year and $24,776,216 for 1925. Of the 65 firms reporting, 43 were in Ontario, 12 in Quebec, 4 in Manitoba, 4 in Alberta, one in Saskatchewan and one in Prince Edward Island.

Having successfully completed for her trials off Scotland the new Canadian Pacific British Columbia coastal steamer "Princess Narah" will arrive shortly at Victoria, Vancouver Island. The new ship is the seventeenth "Princess" of the company's fleet and is equipped with bow rudders to facilitate navigation in the narrow channels of the west coast.

Canadian seed wheat is in considerable demand in South America according to officials of the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Winnipeg. A lot of seed wheat was recently shipped from Brandon to Peruvian wheat ranchers, and it is expected that further orders will come from the South American republic.

Less than a minute was required to launch each boat when the life saving equipment of the Canadian Pacific liner "Duchess of Bedford" received its regular test at New York recently before embarking on Christmas cruise of the West Indies. "The finest and most efficient boat lowering apparatus I have ever seen," was the comment made by John J. Gray, head of the United States Steamship Inspection service, who was present at the test. The "Duchess of Bedford" is one of four sister ships of the new "Duchess" class all of whom are speedily of burners and are equipped with the same efficient life saving apparatus for use in an emergency.

WHAT CARD PLAYING DID FOR A SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

(N.B.—This story sent in for publication by Mrs. John D. Williamson, of St. George, was told in the Garrick Theatre, Philadelphia, during the great King's Business Revival Movement there.)

"While a friend of mine was conducting a meeting one morning a tramp came in and said, 'My father and mother used to sit in this place. It is the first church I ever attended. My father was an officer in this Church. Seven boys used to sit in this pew in the Sunday School class. We had a great love and respect for our Sunday School teacher. Saturday afternoon she invited us to her home, entertaining with music, eatables and a look over the lesson. After a while she was anxious to please and hold us and she taught us the names of cards. We became enthusiastic over it, learning different games. After a while we would not give so much time to the lesson, but she let us have more time to playing cards and show us some more tricks. Later on, we were off in the cotton gins playing cards and not going to her home. Then we failed to go to Sunday School.

"Cards, cigarettes, after a while drink and gambling. We all at different times left our homes. Two of those boys have been hanged, three are in State's prison for life, one a vagabond like myself. No one knows where he is, and if the authorities knew I was here, I would be arrested and put behind the bars. All I wish is, that that teacher had never taught us how to play cards."

This story is true and can be easily substantiated.

With sincere regards, I am,
Cordially yours,
J. WILBUR CHAPMAN, D.D.

Another British Stronghold

Harbor At Malta One Of World's Greatest Naval Stations

The island port harbor at Malta, under British management has been converted into one of the greatest naval and coaling stations in the world. In strength and impregnability it is said to now rival the famous rock of Gibraltar.

The old fortifications were useless against attack of modern aircraft, and the British have completely altered the naval batteries and land defenses of the islands. Today they are among the most formidable in the world.

A large military and civil airfield has been constructed at Hal Far, having another link in Britain's worldwide system of air communication. A floating dry dock, capable of accommodating the largest vessels in the world, as well as new refitting yards, large magazines and many other improvements, have been completed.

Malta is the headquarters of the British Mediterranean fleet, probably the most powerful flotilla of warships afloat, and is also one of the most important ports of call in the world. It lies midway between Gibraltar and Port Said. Although in area Malta is three times the size of Manhattan Island, it has only one-tenth the population of the Borough of Manhattan. The last census showed less than 225,000 inhabitants.

KEEP YOUR BABY

HAPPY AND WELL

Every mother wishes her child or children to be well and happy; to be bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked boys and girls. No mother, though, can expect her children to escape all the ills of babyhood and childhood, but she can do much to help them fight the battle for health.

All prudent mothers constantly keep at hand the means of aiding their little ones when sickness comes suddenly and it generally does in the case of children. In every home where there are infants and young children Baby's Own Tablets should be found. Read what Mrs. Mary Hill, Centre Dumfries, Ont., says concerning these Tablets: "I am the mother of six children and would not be without Baby's Own Tablets. They are a wonderful medicine for little ones."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, and thus break up colds and simple fever, banish constipation and indigestion and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. They are absolutely safe and are pleasant to take. The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GRIDDLE CAKES

Who doesn't like griddle cakes? From father to the youngest member of the family, every one clamors for more—when they are tasty! Here is a tested recipe:

- 1 cupful Borden's St. Charles Milk.
- 1 cupful water.
- 2 tablespoons melted butter.
- 1 egg, well beaten.
- 3 cupfuls white flour.
- 1 teaspoonful salt.
- 4 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
- 2 tablespoons sugar.

Combine the milk and water, and the shortening, sugar, and the eggs, and beat in the dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Beat thoroughly and fry as usual on a slightly oiled griddle, or on an un-oiled aluminum or soapstone griddle. If very thin cakes are desired, add two more tablespoonsful of St. Charles milk and water. For further interesting recipes write for the Borden Cook Books, addressing The Borden Co., Ltd., Dept. Good Market For Whitefish

Calgary Man States U.S. Favors

Great Slave Lake Product
People in Chicago may soon be eating Canadian whitefish purchased on their home market for 15 cents a pound, according to W. J. Madden, of Calgary, Alta., who was in Montreal recently making necessary rail transportation arrangements.

The fish will be caught in Great Slave Lake, a lake which provides almost virgin fishing waters, according to Mr. Madden. He stated that it abounds in whitefish, a food that is looked upon with favor throughout the United States. He plans to operate a number of five-ton trucks over the ice of the Slave and Athabasca rivers to Waterways, and then to Chicago by rail, taking about four days in all to complete the journey.

At present, however, the open season for whitefish in Canada ends in February, and Mr. Madden went to Ottawa to seek an extension of the season to the end of March. He believes that if this extension is granted, Chicago will provide an active market for whitefish during the Lenten season.

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wisper precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

Canada Early Prize Winner

That Canada early took foremost place in fish culture is indicated by the fact that in 1853 at the Great International Fisheries Exhibition in London, she carried off the highest award, namely, the gold medal and diploma for the best and most complete fish-breeding establishment in the Exhibition.

Children suffering from worms soon show the symptoms, and any mother can detect the presence of these parasites by the writhings and fretting of the child. Canada As Good Example

Might Well Be Followed In Many Ways Says London Weekly

Not only in regard to penny postage, but in other respects as well, Canadian ways are not infrequently held up as an example that might well be followed in the Mother Country. Two instances have been noticed recently. At an inquest in Brixton, in the case of a young woman who was killed by a tramway car while attempting to board a tramway car, the jury added to their verdict of "accidental death" a rider that "the rule in operation in Canadian cities whereby all traffic on the near side of stationary tramway cars must stop until the tramway car proceeds is an excellent one and conducive to the preservation of human life."

Following this, the coroner said he also wished the Canadian rule was enforced in London, remarking it was better to have some congestion of traffic than to sacrifice human life. The other instance occurs in the course of an article by Mr. Arthur Collins in the Municipal Journal. He says: "Had I my way I would undertake a mission amongst our leading counties and cities to prevail on them to send a representative body of surveyors to the United States and to Canada, in order that they should see the developments which are taking place in road construction and improvements in and around the great cities. In parts of Western Canada the roads were a source of wonder to me. Having expected very primitive conditions, I found a network of roads which stand well in comparison with most of the country roads in England and Wales."

This is a statement that might well be noted by motorists as well as local authorities. We might supplement this hint by adding the advice that when a tour in Canada is being planned the Natural Intelligence branch of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, should be consulted as to routes, etc.

Hand stripped to the waist. Connie's eyes rested on the mighty frame of this huge blond; the bunched and rippling muscles, the great chest covered with a mat of thick hair, and the enormous limbs. Her glance then turned and roved to the man who was to fight for her honor. Donald's eyes were like burning coals. His face had regained its color, but was constricted with a passion that made him seem unnatural. Yet he appeared a mere stripling in comparison to his burly antagonist.

For a moment Connie became a primitive woman. She felt as though she could rend and tear. Her eyes darted like lightning of wrath toward the man who had insulted her, and her small hands clinched in impotent fury. Her nails cut into her palms as she exercised every ounce of self-control to keep from screaming aloud. Donald was fighting for her. She caught her breath in a quick stab. Her heart was beating with alternate throbs of joy and fear. A sudden fit of trembling seized her, and her head felt light and giddy.

Hand's reputation as a rough and tumble fighter was well known throughout the province. It was his proud boast that he never had been whipped. He advanced now, a sinister leer on his face. Andy ran to Donald's side.

"Box 'im, Donald," he whispered. "Don't let 'im get 'old on you."

"You going to nip me? De dude gon' to vip me? Ach!" scoffed Hand in guttural accents.

He came slowly forward with arms spread wide, his thick fingers working convulsively. Donald leaned slightly forward and waited. As he neared him, Hand, tore in sure of himself in the rough and tumble, Donald side-stepped the big man's first rush and shot his left to his face. He was not properly set for the blow, but it stung Hand to madness.

"Ach!" he grunted, "stand and fight you d— coward!"

He came on, his arms swinging wildly. Leaping aside, Donald's heel struck a stump, and before he could regain his footing the giant's arms were around him in a bone-crushing grasp. His hands were clasped at Donald's waist, and the big head was pressed suffocatingly against his throat. Donald was forced slowly backward to strike the ground with a thud, the big man on top.

"Now I got you!" panted Hand as he released his hold on Donald's waist and aimed a blow at his face. With a quick movement the under man turned face down. Hand struck him viciously as he lay prostrate under him.

Connie's eyes were wide with horror, and a muffled scream escaped her lips as the blow fell.

With a quick, convulsive movement of his lithe body Donald threw Hand from his back and sprang to his feet. Whirling quickly as the foreigner came toward him, he sent in a volley of blows to his opponent's face. Hand staggered, but did not fall. His lips were cut and bleeding; his nose was broken; and he spat out several broken teeth. Any one of the blows landed was sufficient to send an ordinary man down for the count, but still the gargantuan giant came on.

In and out Donald flashed, his arms moving like steel pistons. Hand could not keep away from the punishing left hand of his lighter opponent. Men not trained in the science of boxing have no punishing power in their left hand, but depend solely on their right. Such was the case with Hand. His style did not vary for a moment. With head lowered between his powerful shoulders he would bore in, swinging wildly in the hope of landing a lucky punch, or striving to get a hold on his adversary. Donald's hand kept beating a tattoo on his opponent's jaw, but still Hand came forward, slowly and relentlessly as a steam-roller.

Crowding Donald back to the line of tense spectators, Hand rushed him in the scattering crowd and seized him in a rib-cracking embrace. Donald broke the hold, but not before the brute had butted him over the eye. With the blow Donald's senses reeled and the blood gushed from his nose with a dull grunt. A blow from the foreigner's big fist then caught him over the heart and sent him staggering to his knees. With a curse the big man came after him. Andy shouted hysterical words of advice.

Donald came slowly to his feet and mechanically side-stepped as Hand came stumbling toward him. Donald evaded him until his head cleared, and then summoned his remaining strength into one mighty blow that landed flush on his opponent's midriff. The blond head came to his knees with a dull grunt.

"Go after him!" yelled excited voices from the crowd.

Donald stepped forward with fist drawn back to strike the kneeling man, but his arm fell to his side and he shook his head. "Get up!" he commanded hoarsely.

Even the strikers gasped their appreciation of this honorable act. A murmur of applause came from both sides. The foreigner shook his shaggy blond head and came uncertainly to his feet and the sanguinary battle went on. Both men were tired. Hand's breath was coming in short-choking gasps from his tortured lungs, and his face was one mass of blood. Donald's left eye was closed; his lips were split, and the gash over his eye and covered his body with blood. His arms were tired from pounding the iron jaw of his adversary. The big logger's strength was waning; the pounding administered by Donald was beginning to tell. But Donald was too weak to allow his rushes. In a clinch Hand again butted him with his head.

Blackie, his eyes blazing, leaped forward with a peavy handle in his hand. "You fight fair, d— you, or I'll brain you!" he shouted. One of the strikers attempted to wrest the peavy handle from his hands. Blackie filled him with a blow of his fist. It looked for the time moment as if there would be a general melee. There came sudden mutterings from the crowd of strikers.

"Back!" John Miller's voice rang out sharp and clear. "I'll kill the first man that interferes!" The eyes shining over the long-barreled Colt held a dangerous glint. The men who had moved to the centre backed away hurriedly.

Back and forth the combatants struggled, neither gaining any decided advantage, each trying to land a blow that would end the battle. Reeling, gasping, striking, falling to their knees from sheer weakness, the men fought on under a burning, noisome sun.

No knight of old ever fought more nobly for a fair lady's honour than did Donald McLean that day by the lake-shore. His undershirt was torn to tatters, showing his white skin blotched with welts and bruises. He was losing his sense of distance swinging wildly with his left, his wrist struck Hand's adamant jaw and the onlookers saw his face writhe in pain as the arm fell helplessly to his side.

"E's broken 'is 'nd," groaned Andy.

"On, stop it, Andy, please stop it!" sobbed Connie, her arms held out in entreaty.

Donald's face turned a sickly grey and as the well-high sightless foreigner staggered weakly toward him, he with a strength born of agony whipped his right to his opponent's sagging jaw. The big man faltered, sank slowly to hands and knees, then stretched at full length, his face pressing the soil, quivered and lay still. No sound came from the crowd. The thing had been too stupendous for immediate shouting or applause. Donald stood for an instant cowering uncertainly, then turned to stumble toward his cabin.

Blackie sprang to the top of a stump and swung his hat in the air. "Three cheers for our boss!" he yelled wildly.

A roaring cheer came from the crowd with a right good will.

"Boys, let's go back to work!" shouted Blackie.

"We're with you, Blackie!" they answered.

Gills reached Donald's side as he tottered into the cabin and caught him in his arms as he collapsed into unconsciousness. The big man picked him up tenderly and placed him on the bed.

"Get some 'ot water and towels and telephone for Dr. Paul," commanded Andy tersely.

As Gills left to fill Andy's commission, Connie fell on her knees by the bedside and wept with wild and passionate violence. "Oh, Donald! Donald!" she sobbed. "You fought for me. I love you! I love you! On Andy," turning her streaming eyes to the little man, "he won't die, will he? Tell me he won't die!" Her trembling fingers were smoothing Donald's dark hair, and she kissed his battered face tenderly, all the while calling his name hysterically.

With tears in his eyes and a heart full of sympathy, little Andy looked down on the recumbent form of his unconscious friend. "E's all right, Connie. E'll be all right in a few days," he answered her in a choking voice.

GINGIVITIS

Meaning what?
It is a sulcus, implying inflammation and gingivitis—the soft tissue immediately encircling the tooth.

This, then, is an inflammatory condition of the gum tissue, adjoining the tooth.

Consult your mirror: Notice how snugly these tissues hug the tooth surfaces in health, filling the interstices and guarding the supporting structures from injury and disease.

Now you will have observed that the gingivitis are not attached to the tooth surfaces for a short distance down and hence, are "free," also, that their color in health is a lustrous pink.

But the inflammation appearing, you have a rush of blood within—and soreness develops, so that you readily perceive that they are far from the state of health.

Now what might cause this? It may be that some body disturbance is accountable. General ill-health, diseases of organs or glands concerned in body welfare such as diabetes, or run down nervous system may lead to this disorder.

Among the more positive causes, dirt and tartar do doubt play a part, the wedging of food between teeth with faulty contacts, and disease producing organisms are all held responsible.

If, for any reason, there is a slight opening between two teeth, food which is tough and stringy will be crowded into the space and cause pressure upon the underlying tissue. Single such occurrences may do little harm provided the food is promptly removed, but where there is this repeated pressure and irritation the tissue is inflamed much of the time. Similarly the crowding of "tartar" upon these tissues or retention of injuries from whatever source will set up this process.

It is in these gingival tissues then, that the initial injury may occur with, if neglected, frequent leads to the infective process known as pyorrhea. So that any inflammatory condition or tenderness of the gums should receive early recognition, and have prompt remedial treatment at the hands of your dentist.

Has Increased Crop Area

In Manitoba there is one tractor for every 4.6 farms; in Saskatchewan for every 4.7 farms and in Alberta one for every 7.5 farms. The mechanical equipment has been a material factor in the large increase in area under field crops in the Prairie provinces, which has increased from 2,590,119 in 1900 to 28,838,265 acres in 1928. Practically 8,500,000 of this increase has taken place since 1920.

Sun's Ordinary Star In Scale of Brilliance Says Astronomer

The sun is a very humble unit amid the great stellar population according to A. S. Eddington, the astronomer. It is, he says, a very ordinary star about midway in the scale of brilliancy. We know of stars which give at least 10,000 times the light of the sun; we know also of stars which give 1/10,000 of its light. But those of inferior light greatly outnumber those of superior light.

In mass, in surface temperature, in bulk, the sun belongs to a very common class of stars; its speed of motion is near the average; it shows none of the more conspicuous phenomena such as variability which excite the attention of astronomers in the community of stars the sun corresponds to a respectable middle class citizen.

It happens to be quite near the centre of the local star cloud; but this apparently favored position is discounted by the fact that the star cloud itself is placed very eccentrically in relation to the galactic system (the Milky Way), being in fact, near the confines of it. We cannot claim to be at the hub of the universe.

Little Helps For This Week

"Strengthened with all might, according to His glorious power, unto all patience and long-suffering with joyfulness."—Colossians 1. 11.

I longed to gird the harness on. To work with might and will; Stern was the voice that said to me,

My child, wait and be still. He only knoweth how to serve. Who knoweth how to wait; Thus test I all who wish to work Within my vineyard gate.

—Mary Frances Butta

Working or waiting, our souls will hang on Him. And waiting, as we must recognize and remember, is a sacrifice of self, a real martyrdom no less than working. To win the soul in patience, to bear the trial of delay, to watch for the dawn through the chill hours which precede it, to keep fresh and unswayed the great hope that Christ will come, is a witness to the powers of the unseen world, which the Spirit of God alone can make possible.

Simple Precautions Against FLU

Sore Throat —

— The Danger Signal

Health Authorities Point Out The Necessity Of Treating The Simple Cold At Its Beginning

Nearly every case of "Flu" starts with a simple cold. At first, the throat is sore—often just a little hoarse—soon the infection goes lower than the chest is affected. A safe plan is to gargle the throat three times daily with "Nerviline"—this will keep the throat free from germs. If there is any sign of tightness in the chest, rub on Nerviline—every drop will penetrate deeply—congestion will be relieved—the cold will break up quickly. Many a dangerous case of "Flu" can be avoided by this simple home treatment.

Of course it is always wise to take some relaxing medicine, and for this purpose immediate results will be secured from Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they purge the system of impurities and carry off a lot of disease—breeding wastes.

—This combination treatment of Nerviline and Dr. Hamilton's Pills is very effective for Grippe, Influenza, Bad Colds, etc., and can be relied upon to give very satisfactory results.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient, and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

BETTER SEED

CAMPAIGN PLANNED
The use of better seed grain will again be emphasized for the coming spring throughout Alberta as a result of the efforts of the committee recently appointed by Hon. George Hoodley, Minister of Agriculture, from representatives of a number of the better farming interests of the province. Following a similar campaign which was conducted last season, a very marked improvement was noted in the quality of seed used for the 1928 crop and it is hoped that this improvement can be still further increased in 1929. A number of radio addresses are being arranged and through the courtesy of the press a number of articles written by prominent grain growers will be given wide circulation bringing to the attention of farmers a number of defects in seed grain which should be avoided if their crops are to give the best possible yield.

The efforts of the committee will be centred on the period from March 11 to 16, which will be known as "Better Seed Week". The personnel of the committee includes H. A. Craig, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Chairman; D. A. McCannell, Publicity Commissioner, Secretary; Major H. G. L. Strange, representing the Canadian Seed Growers' Association and D. H. Galbraith, M. L. A., and Don Bork representing the Alberta Seed Growers' Association; G. M. Stewart, of the Dominion Seed Branch; F. H. Reed of the Dominion Experimental Farms; Dr. A. S. Aamdt, University of Alberta, and W. J. Stephen, Provincial Field Crops Commissioner.

POOL ELEVATOR PROGRAM

A tentative list of points at which the Alberta Wheat Pool will build or buy elevators during the coming season has been issued from the Pool office. The total number of points is fifty six, but the list, it was pointed out, is by no means a final one. The Alberta Pool has now 318 elevators located at Country points, and the additions will bring the total number up to 374. The list may be enlarged considerably as the season develops, but the increase will depend upon various factors.

The number of elevators which will be built and the number purchased will depend on the prices asked by the elevator companies for elevators they are willing to sell, and also on the price of lumber.

Whenever the Pool decides to go in to a new point it is usual for the organization to make an offer to purchase if there is an elevator there which will meet the requirements. In this way the Pool has acquired a considerable number of houses and avoided a wasteful duplication.

A number of points are under consideration for a second Pool house, because of extraordinary large deliveries of Pool wheat, but a definite decision as to these has not as yet been reached.
